NEW EDITOR ANNOUNCED

We are delighted to announce the appointment of Mr Anirvan Banerjee as the new Editor of ENT & audiology news magazine.

Mr Anirvan Banerjee, MS, FRCSEd(ORL-HNS),

Mr Banerjee is a Consultant Ear Nose and Throat Surgeon at the South Tees University Hospitals Foundation Trust, based at the James Cook University Hospital in Middlesbrough, UK. Currently the lead clinician for the children's hearing service in Teesside and North Yorkshire region, Mr Banerjee undertakes cochlear implant surgery as part of the North East Cochlear Implant programme. Mr Banerjee treats balance problems, hearing loss and ear infections with a special interest in surgery for the reconstruction of the ear drum and restoration of hearing. In addition, Mr Banerjee is the only surgeon in the region offering surgery for snoring under local anaesthetic as a day-case procedure

TWO NEW FEATURES EDITORS ANNOUNCED

We are also pleased to announce that two Features Editors will assist Anirvan in co-ordinating, commissioning and editing the editorial content of the magazine.

Mr Declan Costello, MA, MBBS, FRCS(ORL-HNS),

Mr Costello is a Consultant Ear, Nose and Throat Surgeon at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Birmingham, UK. He has a specialist interest in laryngology and voice disorders. Having studied music at St John's College, Cambridge, where he was a choral scholar, he went on to study medicine at Imperial College. He undertook his postgraduate training in Oxford and London and was appointed to his current post in August 2010.

Miss Nazia Munir, MBBCh, DO-HNS, FRCS(ORL-HNS),

Miss Munir is a final year Specialist Registrar on the Mersey training rotation. She has worked with ENT & audiology news magazine since 2007 as co-editor for the Trainee Matters section. Miss Munir is currently based at the University Hospital Aintree, Liverpool and is pursuing a career in neuro-otology and skull base surgery.
